He said discussions are also being held with Cheryl Jouett, director of Madison County Community Development, on the possibility of utilizing Hagnauer said he was unsure of the size of the proposed terminal, but Ortbals said the city is targeting control of an area of "about one and a half acres."

Ortbals said there are a number of other possibilities for use of the area.

"Now that Wal-Mart is out of the picture (downtown)," Orbals said, "any number of other developments are possible," ranging from residential to commercial development. A Wal-Mart store is to be deferment of the commercial development. A Wal-Mart store is to be deferment of the committee, and the McT proposal has been brought to the committee, but not publicly to the City Council because it involves property acquisition.

Miller said the immediate obstacle in negotiations is the question of development costs.

"The city does not want to pay the cheefer funding sources," Miller said. But he said a deal could be negotiated.

figures are still "subject to possible correction," area officials have received a pretty good idea of the results of the 1990 census.
The most recently issued Census Bureau statistics reflect changes from challenges of the preliminary figures released in late August and early September, according to Granite City
Economic Development Director
Alan Ortbale.

The preliminary Granite City figure showed a population of 32,701. The city challenged that, and the latest total is 32,862, an increase of 161 over the preliminary number.

Nonetheless, the Granite City tally is a decrease of about 12 tally is a decrease of about 10 tall 136,810, pared to the 1890 total (36,810). The final figures are important to municipalities because they are used to determine motor fuel tax and state income tax allocations, as well as a defecting congressional redistricting.

Ortbals said he is writing a letter to clarify a few facts with census officials.
For instance, Granite City and Granite City Township are shown on the latest list as having identical populations. But, since the two are no longer identical—the Gorbe subdivision is identical—the Gorbe subdivision is client of the company of the control of the control

It must seem like a million years ago to Ottis Anderson. It certainly seems almost that long for this fan of the dearly departed St. Louis Football Cardinals.

As everyone knows by now Anderson put the crowning jewel of St. Louis and St. Louis and St. Could be seen to the County of the County

Even in recent photos, Grange had a steely, determined look in his eyes which must have really been something 65 years ago. "A streak of fire, a breath of flame; eluding all who reach and clutch: a gray ghost thrown into the game; that rival names may never touch..."

I wish I'd written that, but credit it to Grantland Rice. It says it all. says it all.
